EDCO 831

INDIVIDUAL & FAMILY ISSUES IN PASTORAL COUNSELING

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Examining the various factors that hinder and destroy the family, this course provides an in-depth study of the issues encountered in pastoral counseling. Areas of discussion and examination include common mental health disorders, as well as issues that impact both the individual and family including family composition such as blended families, childbirth, parenting, and additional pertinent topics throughout the lifespan.

RATIONALE

With the world of the pastoral counselor changing with ever-increasing frequency, it is important that the student stay up-to-date with contemporary issues in society. The focus of this course is on how the meaning of “family” is changing and how the individual fits into this new paradigm. This knowledge will better prepare the pastoral counselor to face these issues as they are presented to and in the church, as well as to help them form a biblical response to these new challenges.

F. Communications

Students are expected to communicate in a professional manner at all times with classmates, faculty, or Liberty University employees. Because writing is a limited form of communication, it is more easily misinterpreted than face-to-face. Therefore, written communications should be courteous and well thought out to avoid offense. If any offense is perceived, the offender should be alerted first and privately. Reconciliation is the goal, but if it does not happen, the offended may then involve the instructor. Personal messages are not appropriate for posting in Blackboard. The student's Liberty email account will be used for all email communications. Announcements from the instructor or University may be posted in Blackboard.

G. Dual Relationships

The faculty is responsible to interact with counseling students in a supervisory capacity/role. As such, faculty may provide students professional principles, guidance, and recommendations as it relates to the context of the student-client setting. The faculty is responsible to avoid dual relationships with students such as entering a student-counselor or student-pastor relationship. Thus, the faculty does not provide personal counseling addressing student personal problems. If a faculty member perceives that a student is in need of personal or professional counseling, then that faculty member will recommend that the student pursue either pastoral or professional assistance from a counselor in their community.

H. Limits of Confidentiality

In the event of a student's disclosure, either verbally or in writing, of threat of serious or foreseeable harm to self or others, abuse or neglect of a minor, elderly or disabled person, or current involvement in criminal activity, the faculty, staff, administrator, or supervisor will take immediate action. This action may include, but is not limited to, immediate notification of appropriate state law enforcement or social services personnel, emergency contacts, and notification of the appropriate program chair or distance learning dean. The incident and action taken will become part of the student's permanent record.
